

Sysmex Scientific Award in Haematology

The Sysmex Corporation is sponsoring this Award.

PURPOSE

The aim of this award is to stimulate and encourage work in research and experimentation in the Biomedical Laboratory Science discipline of Haematology.

Also, it should promote the objectives of IFBLS by communicating new methods and articles.

ELIGIBILITY

The applicant must be an IFBLS Associate member in good standing.

APPLICATION

The candidate must complete the application form and send it along with the paper/article in English to the IFBLS office. The applicant must also include a Curriculum Vitae and a letter of recommendation from their National Association.

EVALUATION

The IFBLS Awards committee will be responsible for the selection of the award winner.

- The work must have been performed within the last three years.
- The paper/article must demonstrate the author's knowledge of haematology and encompass experimental work performed by the applicant.

Applications and supporting documents will not be returned to the applicant.

DEADLINE

Applications must be post marked or sent electronically to the IFBLS Office by February 15, 2010.

PRIZE

The prize consists of $2000.00 USD and is intended to facilitate attendance and participation in the IFBLS World Congress.

The prize will be presented by a representative of Sysmex during the Awards Ceremony, as part of the World Congress Opening Ceremony.

CONDITIONS

Award recipients (associations) are responsible for booking travel, sickness and accident insurance, cancellation insurance and accommodation well in advance of the Congress dates to obtain the best prices. The IFBLS office can assist with obtaining travel documents.

The IFBLS, Award Sponsors and the Congress host are not responsible for any loss or injury to the recipient arising out of his/her attendance at the World Congress and GAD. Expenses incurred over and above the value of the award are the responsibility of the award recipient.

A copy of the travel itinerary and hotel confirmation must be submitted to the IFBLS office by April 15, 2010 or the award will be forfeited.
